

Song of the wood
Listen to the wood's voice.

Next time you're in the woods, find a quiet place to sit and listen. Even on a still summer day you will be able to hear the wood's summer song.

Close your eyes. What can you hear?

What do you think the trees, flowers and animals are saying to each other?

Song of the wood

Chirping grasshoppers

Rustling leaves

Sighing grasses

Buzzing bees

Croaking frogs

Each day is new and different – go back on different days and listen.
